The C-STEM Administrator of the Year Award recognizes C-STEM schools, districts, and county administrators for their exemplary leadership in supporting integrated computing and STEM education through systematic implementation of the C-STEM program in their school, district, and/or county. Award recipients are selected by the C-STEM Awards Committee consisting of university faculty, graduate students, and undergraduate students.

Direction: Please complete the steps below.

I. Activities and Achievements to Support Nomination:

Please describe and provide examples of how the nominee has demonstrated exemplary leadership in supporting integrated computing and STEM education through systematic implementation of the C-STEM program in their school, district, and/or county. Examples include inspiring and challenging teachers to integrate computing and robotics into their classes, providing on-going professional development opportunities for educators, encouraging communities of practice or professional learning communities, and demonstrating a focus on high-quality student learning, progress and performance in math and/or computing.

II. Letters of Recommendation:

Please submit one or two letters of recommendation from nominee's colleagues and/or school/district administrators describing how the nominee satisfies the criteria set forth for C-STEM Administrator of the Year Award.

Qualifications

- Nominee must be an administrator in a K-12 school with an annual C-STEM subscription.
- Nominee must be actively participating in the C-STEM program.
- Nominee has not received this award in the past.
- Nominee has been continuously and actively involved in the C-STEM program.
- If selected, nominee must attend the Annual C-STEM Conference in person to receive the award and participate in a presentation.

Selection Criteria

- Evidence of exemplary leadership in supporting integrated computing and STEM education through systematic implementation of the C-STEM program at their school site, district or county.
- Inspire educators to learn and acquire knowledge and tools to prepare students for college and careers in computing and STEM fields.
- Provide integrated computing and STEM education opportunities for all students, including those with diverse backgrounds and abilities to learn.
- Demonstrate ongoing commitment to guiding and supporting C-STEM educators.
- Value and create opportunities to showcase student learning and achievement in partnership with C-STEM educators (e.g. organize events to showcase student learning, report and share-out on student progress/achievement in math/computing, host a RoboPlay Challenge, etc.).
