

2020 C-STEM Service Learning Award

Nomination Form

Due September 6, 2020

<http://c-stem.ucdavis.edu>

C-STEM Service Learning Awards recognize C-STEM teachers and their middle or high school students for their exceptional contributions in teaching CS and STEAM subjects using C-STEM curriculum through peer mentoring. The student serves as a C-STEM Student Ambassador to help teacher(s) in a different school to teach, mentor, and inspire younger students to learn STEM with hands-on robotics and coding. Award recipients are selected by the C-STEM Awards Committee consisting of the university faculty, graduate students, and undergraduate students.

Selection Criteria

- The C-STEM Service Learning Award must be nominated by a C-STEM district administrator. It is not necessary to nominate an awardee in each category to be qualified for the awards.
- A school district can only submit up to two nominations for Service Learning Awards each year.
- Evidence on excellence in computing and STEM education, especially on integration of computing and robotics into STEM education due to C-STEM Student Ambassador's participation such as introducing C-STEM program to a new school, co-teaching an elementary school math course using RoboBlockly for distance learning, mentoring a team to participate in the C-STEM RoboPlay Competition
- Supporting letters from principal(s) to document the outcome of C-STEM Service Learning and peer-mentoring are encouraged.
- Nominees need to attend the C-STEM Annual Conference in person to receive the award. If selected, the conference registration fee will be waived. Nominees will however need to provide their own travel and lodging accommodations.
